Tea Staining Silk:

4 Quarts Water
4 Tea Bags [2 cup bags or 8 of 1 cup bags]
(you can use any tea of choice. Experiment with different types of tea, like peppermint or chamomile)

Fabric
Dish detergent

How to:

Bring water to a boil, remove from heat. Add tea and let sit until desired color is achieved. A few minutes will usually be fine. Remove tea bags. This is important. If you leave tea bags in the water and they come into contact with the fabric, it could result in darker stains on the fabric.

Before dipping your fabric into your tea mixture, soak the fabric until completely saturated and gently squeeze out any excess water. Now place your fabric in your tea mixture and stir gently with a wooden spoon. The fabric stain will appear darker when it is wet. Allow your fabric to sit in mixture until the desired color is reached.

Once you've obtained the desired color, remove the fabric and rinse well with warm water and little mild dish washing liquid.

Hang your fabric to dry completely.
